NATIONAL SCHOOLS GEOLOGY CHALLENGE 2017

NOW IN ITS SEVENTH YEAR, THE NATIONAL SCHOOLS GEOLOGY CHALLENGE IS LOOKING FOR 2017 FINALISTS

- Do you know any science, geography or geology students who could produce a poster and a 5 minute presentation on their chosen, geoscience-related topic to a panel of leading experts from industry and academia?
- The Challenge is aimed at groups from years 12/13 (England), 13/14 (Northern Ireland) or S5/S6 (Scotland).
- Heats take place all over the UK, organised through our network of Regional Groups.
- This is an excellent opportunity for students to enhance their UCAS applications, and benefit from watching professional geoscientists taking part in our Early Career Geologist Award talk about their work.
- The Final is held in London at the Geological Society's headquarters on Wednesday 3 May 2017; finalists can claim their travel costs back.
- If you're interested in competing in the 2017 event, please visit the website for full details.
